Lubbock Police Search For Man Who Allegedly Tried to Kidnap a Young Boy

Lubbock Police Search For Man Who Allegedly Tried to Kidnap a Young Boy

Lubbock police are looking for a man who allegedly tried to kidnap a 9-year-old boy. The boy says a Hispanic man approached him in the 1800 block of 3rd on Monday, November 6th. That man allegedly tried to force the boy into his car, but the boy broke free and ran home.

Fortunately, he was not hurt but now police have a composite sketch of the suspect and need your help. Parents and children alike can look at this picture to see if they recognize the suspect.

He is described as 5'7, 130 pounds with a bald or shaved head. A witness, who heard the boy's story came back to this area and found a person matching the description. That witness chased the suspect but he got away in a 90's style sedan, similar to a Chevy Lumina. It's white, with a red pinstripe.

If you have any information that can help police catch this attempted kidnapper, you're urged to call Crime Line. That number is (806) 741-1000.

The boy told police he learned how to get away during the yellow-dyno project at his school. For more information on that safety program, click here.
